Defer Your Payments Not Your Research.

Don't allow budgetary constraints to slow down your research!

Program Details

Invest in the equipment you need today and defer your payments for up to six months or until your grant funding is received. We can tailor a deferred payment term to ensure funding does not delay your lab from receiving the equipment it needs. At the end of the deferral period, you can either purchase the equipment for the stated amount through our fixed buyout option or finance the equipment over a period of time with fixed payments.

A recent Thermo Fisher Scientific customer needed centrifuges for their laboratory but was not scheduled to receive their grant funding for four months. By utilizing the deferred payment program, they were able to process the order and pay for the equipment when they received their funding.
